Kind, caring staff

Communication between teachers and parents has significantly improved, making it easier for parents to stay informed and engaged. The librarians are doing an excellent job by offering books for children to read at home. Allowing children to choose their own books fosters independence and encourages a love for reading. The option for children to choose their own lunch is another thoughtful initiative that empowers them to make decisions and promotes healthy eating habits. The reading challenges have been fantastic for pupils and the school community. They motivate students to develop strong reading skills and celebrate their progress.

Very good SEND and information on the development at school

Nothing

None

Communication, approachability, care and compassion

Play ground difficulties

Bullying

Equality

Improving on existing standards on child wellbeing

Keeping children's shoes on whilst doing indoor pe because they keep getting warts

Cleanness. It is never clean, either corridors or other places. Children should not be asked to do PE barefeet on a duty surface with food.

Break time. : I am appealed of the fact that they are not allowed to run, jump, play with a bo, jumping rope ect. There are not childhood games. If they run, they are yelled at. This is a school from what I remember. It doesn't sound like it

Leadership

A bit tolerant with both parents and pupils

Thanks

No idea

Letting parents be aware of what their their will learn in advance .

Giving weekly feedback to parents on their children performance.

Conducting an open day

Idk

Meal. Most of the children trash the food because they don't like it

When a parent comes to pick their children, constant feedback about behaviour and performance of child should be given

Is it possible that the teacher that begins year 1 with a child continue with the class until year 6, please.

More child led learning, physical notes/newsletter from school, opening the gates on time.

Na

more outdoor activities

Unsure

More option for activities to join

Keep on doing the good work

More clubs for the younger years to attend.

Targeted Homework:

Providing more homework, particularly special assignments designed to target and improve students' weaker subjects, would be beneficial. This approach could help children focus on their specific challenges and make consistent progress.

Healthy Snacks:

It would be great if more healthy snack options were available during both snack times. Many children feel quite hungry as soon as they reach home, and offering nutritious snacks at school could help sustain their energy and focus throughout the day.

Activity Clubs:

The variety of activity clubs available for students to choose from is currently limited, and the schedule for these clubs often changes. If the school could offer a wider selection of clubs with fixed days, it would be easier for students to plan and participate. Additionally, providing certificates or recognition for club participation would encourage students to continue these activities outside of school.

Keep the communication going

Cultural activities, More creative works

More support from Send teachers

Discipline, Effective strategies for misbehaviour

Little more concentration on extra curriculum activities, Regular use of google classrooms to let parents know specifically about child's progress.

Shelter for kid line up

na

All good in my opinion

Parent involvement

More home work

Strict with uniform

This school can do better. Take examples from other countries

I support from form my heart all the teacher and other stuff all their hard work

I really love the school and happy that my kids where given the opportunity to be there

If the child has an event, for example Christmas, you should let us know 3-5 days before. We need to make preparations. For example, I need to buy clothes.

I think there is something off in 2 Penguins. I don't know what it is but my son is scared of the teacher.

He just told me yesternite this terms alone, first half that they have spent in school, she had denied him of playtime for like 10 times and she exempts the boy she caught him talking with, Max.

My son is Victor.

He also does not want to tell her if he has some challenge in his work neither does he want us to speak with her and all these were not like that with Ms Mathews. He was always happy with us discussing with her or by himself

Kindly help look into it

All we truly know is that we know nothing.

No

My child reported about another child hitting her and nothing was done

God bless you all

While most teachers are respectful and professional, some instances of inappropriate communication with students have been reported. For example, when students are silly, some teachers respond in a rude manner. In one case, a student felt insulted when told, "It's none of your business" in an unpleasant tone. It was by an assistant teacher. As a parent, this is concerning, and I hope the school can address such situations to ensure respectful communication at all times.

Offer English as a Second Language (ESL) classes for parents, tailored to everyday school-related communication. Offer translated materials. Use WhatsApp groups, social media, or school apps to facilitate communication between parents in the same year group.

I always praise this school. I have always been happy with my children here. The staff are fantastic

All seems good so far
